About Us & Our Vision

"In a country where anyone with a camera and half-baked knowledge can claim to be a 'health expert,' the truth often gets lost."

Somewhere in India right now, someone is getting it wrong.

Not because they're careless. Because they care too much — and they trusted the wrong person.

They Googled their symptoms at midnight. They found a confident face on Instagram. The person had thousands of followers, a clean aesthetic, and the word "nutritionist" in their bio. They paid. They followed the plan. And weeks later, nothing changed — or worse, something did.

Misinformation spreads faster than science, and people end up paying the price — with their money, their trust, and sometimes even their health.

This happens every single day. In every city. In every language. To people who are trying their absolute best.

Diet By RD was born to change that.

We are not here to add noise. We are here to set new industry standards. At Diet By RD, you don't get self-proclaimed "coaches" or certificate-driven influencers. You get licensed professionals — experts who own their craft, stand by evidence, and remain committed to your goals. And we've made it possible at a price that respects the value of your hard-earned money.

But we are not just about affordability or credibility. We are about vision.

The Story Behind Diet By RD

Diet By RD was founded by Aryan Bhagat, a young mind from Darbhanga, Bihar in a household where money was counted carefully and trust was given completely. He saw people around him losing their liver- kidneys on detox programmes and their hard earned money on health advice that was confidently delivered and clinically worthless.

It felt wrong. Deeply, personally wrong. That the people with the least room for error were the most exposed to it.

Diet By RD was built for you.

Not by a corporation. Not by investors looking for a return. By someone who grew up watching the problem happen in real time, who studied hard enough to understand it, and who decided that the most useful thing he could do with that knowledge and skin in the game was to make it available to the people who needed it most.

Diet By RD.

Gold standard clinical nutrition. Honest price. Real credentials.

Your first consultation is one decision away.
